Dear Parent/carer,

World book day is quickly approaching and I wanted to share some of the exciting activities that we have planned for this event with you.

Monday 3rd March

Whole school ERIC. Today the school will gather together to celebrate reading. There will be opportunities to read with a friend, a sibling or choose to read with any teacher of their choice.

Tuesday 4th March

Guest teacher reader. Today the children will be visited in their classroom by another teacher from the school who will share a story of their choosing with them.

Wednesday 5th March

Writing competition winners assembly. This year the children are being challenged to produce a piece of writing with the title 'The day _____ visited Bells Farm'. The entries will be collated into a book that will be available for all children to read and enjoy. The children can produce a story, poem, newspaper article or any other type of writing based on this title. Please ensure all entries are handed into class teachers by Monday 3rd March. Mr Devaney will be announcing one winner per class during the assembly on this day.

Thursday 6th March

West End Dance Workshops. This year we are lucky enough to be visited by West End In Schools. All classes will take part in dance workshops throughout the day which will culminate in a whole school performance in the afternoon. This should be an incredibly exciting experience for the children that we cannot wait to take part in.

Friday 7th March

Poetry assembly and dressing up as a book character. Today the children can dress up as their favourite character from a book. In addition to this, each of the classes will be performing a poem that they will be learning during the first two weeks of the next half term.

We are very excited to share in all of these activities during this week, and you will be able to share in the fun via the school blogs.
