Learning Objective:

To write an alternative ending to the story of The Iron Man.

I think:

My teacher thinks:

The Iron Man stood at the brink of the pointy^{ed} cliff to see the arrival of the strange saucers in the sky. After a few moments, a green thing came out from the bottom of the saucer. It was a green gloopy^{and slimy} alien that was green slime dripping onto the pebbly^{and rocky} beach. In his booming, robotic voice Iron Man demanded "Who are you and why are you here?" "I have come to seize and capture the defenceless humans and I will dig through the ring of fire and I will get the cores^{then} energy to charge my UFO to teleport to my planet!" shouted the alien.

The Iron Man replied "I challenge you to three competitions!" "Fine, bring it on!" snorted the alien. "A vehicle race will do for me!" screamed the alien. All the mechanics worked together to make a giant tractor by using all their spare parts. Hogarth shouted and and they called the two participants, lined up ready for the race. "Ready! Steady! GO!"

The Flying Saucer whizzed like a bullet making Hogarth cough. The ^{new} tractor was chugging at a snail's pace because it was so heavy. Unfortunately,

^{the} Iron Man had lost the first round!

Then Iron Man suggested a test of strength and asked "Whoever lifts the local school the highest wins!" ^{shouted} and ^{The Iron Man} the school ^{Sense} called Bells Farm and ^{the pupils fled and} Hogarth saw Iron Man win round two. After

^{a few} After a few moments, Iron Man had a lightbulb ^{idea}. Who ^{ever} could hold their breath the longest ^{shouted Iron Man} underwater. The farmers and the mariners got whale tanks and Iron Man and the alien got in the tanks.

^{colla} Then they were submerged into the sea. After a while, Hogarth saw bubbles. He quickly jumped into his ^{water he conf} submarine and went full speed. ^{later he conf} and ^{later he conf}

^{class} confirmed the ^{green} alien was dead. Iron Man had truly defeated the alien. The civilisation watched ^{on their TVs} as

^{for breath} Iron Man, who was gasping ^{loudly} emerged from the sea. He strode ^{across} across the ^{rocky} beach at supersonic S_1 speed.
