Dear Lolly,

I am writing with serious points to inform you that I MUST have the rabbit ~~you~~ that your dearly 'hung' kind mother has called Susanna within a week, because I know I could take ~~great~~ great, great amazing care of her and play with her since you hated her and wanted to get rid of her.

27.1.22 Firstly, I am 100% sure that he is made of china, which means that he is VERY delicate and will break easily, so if you threw him on the floor, it is certain that he will break into shards, then you'd have to pay the price with your own money.

Too long!

Moreover, if your wondering why I want Susanna so badly, that is because I'll be really happy with him while you'd be pleased because he's gone and will never return. I will make sure you don't see her again, but if you don't give me the rabbit I might have to kidnap it on the 10th day.

In my opinion, I feel that I'll take her to an ~~adventer~~ adventure far away and stay for 10 months and come back, since I think you'd forget ~~him~~<sup>her</sup> by then and won't mind it. Wouldn't you like to get rid of her for 10 whole months?

Please consider the points I have raised in this letter. ~~He~~ Dora and I are waiting for your pleasant response. I hope you are well.

Yours sincerely

Zi Yan
